In the Eye of the Storm: The Story of Aleppo

Thursday, February 9, 2017
7:30pm
Carlos Museum, Level Three
Emory University

Known in the ancient world as the home of the storm god, Hadad, the city of Aleppo, Syria has been destroyed by years of civil war. Emory faculty members, Hilary Gopnik and Roxani Margariti take a visual walk through time and space to explore what has been lost.

This event is sponsored by Michael C. Carlos Museum, made possible by Lyn Kirkland in honor of her mother, Grace Welch Blanton.
